OIL THEFT BILL SUBMITTED SOLONS BY GOVERNOR TODAY

COMPROMISE HIGHWAY ASSUMPTION BILL AGREED UPON; OTHERS REPORTED

AUSTIN, Sept. 15.—(AP)—Governor R. S. Sterling today submitted to the Texas legislature a bill to define the term "theft" as it pertained to production of oil. The bill would make it an offense for any lessee, assignee or holder of any oil or gas lease or interest therein, who without the consent of the person entitled to any part of the oil produced, fraudulenly converted any part of the oil or the proceeds therefrom to his own use with intent to deprive the owner of the value of the oil and gas or proceed.

Under the bill, the offense would constitute theft and persons convicted under the statute would be punishable under the theft provisions of the penal code.

Representatives R. M. Hubbard of New Boston, member of the house conference committee on the highway bond assumption, said the committee had agreed on the terms of a compromise bill which would be ready for action in both houses later today.

The agreement was reached, Hubbard said, after two members of the senate conference group had resigned and had been replaced by two others. Those who resigned were Senators J. J. Loy of Sherman and W. R. Poage of Waco. They were replaced by Senators Walter Woodward of Coleman and Joe Moore of Greenville.

No Right of Way Pay.

Hubbard said the conference report provided for state assumption of only these protions of bond issues that had been used in actual construction of state highways. Assumption of bonds used to purchase right of way would be precluded Hubbard said.

It was this provision that caused a deadlock in the original conference committee, the senate

FLORIDA-GEORGIA IN PATH OF GULF STORM THURSDAY

HURRICANE WIND AND HEAVY RAINS IN APPALACHICOLA DISTRICT

TALLAHASSEE, Fla., Sept. 15.—(AP)—A Gulf storm that moved inland over the Florida coast between palachicola and Dead Man's Bay proceeded on a northeastward course over South Georgia today but left little damage and no casualties.

Apalachicola, which reported a maximum wind of 35 mile san hour, had minor flood conditions today. Heavy tides were rolling in the Gulf and streams surged with the effects of a 10-inch rain fall since Saturday. Some houses were flooded but little damage was reported.

Carrabelle, to the eastward of Apalachicola, also had high tides. The wind backed up the flow of New river, flooding some sections around the town without serious damage. Other Gulf coast communities reported somewhat similar conditions.

Heavy rains over much of this section since Monday ceased today and there was a tingle of fall in the air.

Telephone and telegraph systems reported their services restored with few xceptions. Telegraph communication between Tallahassee and Apalachicola still was out but expected to be resumed shortly.

APPALACHICOLA, Fla., Sept. 15—(AP)—Wind and rain lashed sections of North Florida and South Georgia today as the weather bureau reported a tropical disturbance out of the Gulf of Mexico curving inland on a northeastward course.

Official observers reported wind velocities up to 35 miles an hour as the center of the storm drove overland near Appalachicola late yesterday and an Appalachicola & Northern railroad train ran into a washout, leaving only the engine on the track. There were no cazualties.

The weather bureau here reported 16.56 inches of rain during the past 36 hours last night and water was standing in a few of the residences in the lower sections of the city. Tallahassee, to the northeast, reported shifting winds and rainfall in torrents. Communication lines were damaged.

IMMEDIATE CASH PAYMENT OF BONUS HELD DANGEROUS

"DEADLY BLOW TO WELFARE OF NATION" PRESIDENT HOOVER STATES

WASHINGTON, Sept. 15. (AP)—In President Hoover's opinion, immediate cash payment of the bonus would "be a deadly blow at the welfare of the nation."

"I have consistently opposed it," Mr. Hoover said yesterday. "In the public interest I must continue to oppose it."

He gave his position in a 700-word statement to the press which he said was "due to the country and to the veterans." It was directed at the American Legion convention in Portland, Oregon, and was issued after the convention legislative committee had recommended adoption of a resolution favoring full and immediate payment of adjusted service certificates.

"The welfare of the nation as a whole must take precedence over the demands of any particular group," the president said.

"I have the duty not alone to see that justice and a sympathetic attitude is taken by this nation toward the 4,000,000 veterans and their families but also to exert myself for justice to the other 21,000,000 families to whom consummation of this proposal at this time would be a calamity.

"Cash payment of face value of certificates today would require an appropriation from the treasury of about $2,300,000,000. No matter how or in what form the payment to the veterans is imposed it will come out of all these families but, of more importance, it will indefinitely set back any hope of recovery for employment, agriculture and business and will impose infinite distress upon the whole country. * * *

Others Concerned.

"I know the courage, the sacrifice of our soldiers. But there are millions of others in the same circumstances. * * * Their employment and their farm recovery, as well as that of the veterans, can be secured only by the restoration of the normal economic

Exciting Chase And Battle In Chicago Street

CHICAGO, Sept. 15.—(AP)—Fifty thousand persons, homeward bound, were thrown into a panic as three police cars with screaming sirens roared through downtown streets, exchanging machine gun fire with six youthful hoodlums who abandoned their car and escaped after it was rammed by a truck.

Of the thousands imperiled by the gun fire, which occurred in the midst of last evening's rush hour, four bystanders were hit. One, shot in the left lung, was in a critical condition today.

The clash was precipitated by the hoodlums' mistaken notion that a squad of policemen, whose car drew up behind theirs on Michigan boulevard as they stopped for a traffic signal, was after them. The gunmen, not waiting for a go signal, immediately shot forward. The police car, assigned to the accident prevention bureau, followed and the chase was on.

PRESIDENT APPEALS GENEROUS SUPPORT RELIEF AGENCIES

FOUR SALIENT POINTS IN CARING FOR NATION'S NEEDY OUTLINED

WASHINGTON, Sept. 15. (AP)—Appealing to the American people to support generously private relief agencies, President Hoover today outlined to welfare and business leaders four salient points in caring for the nation's needy.

They were, first, "to see that no man, woman or child shall go hungry or unsheltered through the approaching winter."

Second, "To see that our great benevolent agencies for character building, for hospitalization, for care of children and all their vast number of agencies of voluntary solicitude for the less fortunate are maintained in full strength."

Third, "To maintain the bedrock principle of our liberties by the full mobilization of individual and local resources and responsibilities."

Fourth, "That we maintain the spiritual impulses in our people for generous giving and generous service—in the spirit that each is his brother's keeper."

The president spoke at the White House to several hundred noted figures in American social service and industrial life. They were meeting in a one-day welfare and relief mobilization conference to rally support behind local community projects for extending aid to the unfortunate. Twenty-nine social service organizations have been enlisted.

Hopes End Is Near.

"This is, I trust," Mr. Hoover told them, "the last winter of this great calamity. Yet despite a dawning hope upon the horizon,

BODY OF MYSTERY WOMAN IN LIFE OF BERN IS DISCOVERED

DOROTHY MILLETTE HAD EVIDENTLY JUMPED TO DEATH FROM STEAMER

SACRAMENTO, Calif., Sept. 15. —(AP)—Search for the woman of the past in the life of Paul Bern, motion picture director who killed himself, was believed ended today with the finding in a Sacramento slough of a body identified as that of Miss Dorothy Millette.

Coroner James Garlick and Ed J. Sullivan, clerk at a San Francisco hotel where the ybung woman had lived, said there was no doubt the body was that of Miss Millette, once known as "Mrs. Paul Bern."

Garlick said she apparently jumped to her death from a river steamer Sept. 7, less than 48 hours after Bern shot himself in the Beverly Hills home he had given as a wedding gift to his bride of two months, Jean Harlow of the films. Miss Millette checked out of the San Francisco hotel September 6, the day after Bern's

GANDHI ADAMANT IN HIS DECISION FOR HUNGER STRIKE

POONA, India, Sept. 15.—(AP)—Mahatma Gandhi still is determined to begin his "fast unto death," he told official visitors who saw him in Yjoda jail here today, determined to refuse food until Great Britain's adjustment of the Indian communal problem is to his liking.

LONDON, Sept. 15.—(AP)—The British government has decided that as soon as Mahatma Gandhi begins a hunger strike, which he has said he will start Sept. 20, he will be removed from the Yeroda jail at Poona to a place of private residence.

The announcement by the India office said it is hoped that it will not be necessary to impose and further restrictions on Mr. Gandhi but that this will depend on whether the liberty accorded him lends itself to athe promotion of civil disobedience or of any similar agiation prejudicial to the maintenance of law and order.

The only restr'ctions contemplated is that Mr. Gandhi would be served with an order directing him to remain at the place of private residence selected.

GOVERNOR ROOSEVELT INVADES THE WEST

Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt was elated by the democratic success in the Maine election. Coming on the opening day of his invasion of the West, the news that the traditionally republican Maine had apparently elected a democratic governor and two democratic congressmen was particularly pleasing to the democratic presidential nominee. R. Earl Peters, Indiana state chairman told him that he was confident that the governor would carry the state of Indiana. The governor was also assured by Congressman Martin Sweeney of Cleveland that the state of Ohio would also be found in the democratic column after the election in November. Picture shows Governor Roosevelt being served coffee by his daughter, Mrs. Anna Dahl. His son, James Roosevelt and Mrs. James Roosevelt are also shown.

NEW YORK TO ROME PLANE IS MISSING; FEARS EXPRESSED

AMERICAN NURSE, WITH THREE ABROAD, WAS LAST SIGHTED NEAR IRELAND

ROME, Sept. 15.—(AP)—An all-day search through Western Italy by land, sea and air disclosed no trace of the airplane American Nurse, missing on a flight from New York with a woman, two men and a woodchuck mascot.

Commercial airlines joined with military planes in searching over the Italian peninsula and Cardna, especially over the wooded areas. Aviation authorities here thought the fliers could not have reached the continent, for if they had they would have flown low to get their bearings and the plane would have been recognized.

They expressed the hope it might still be picked up somewhere at sea but nevertheless they prepare to resume their search at day break tomorrow.

ROME, Sept. 15.—(AP)—The monoplane "American Nurse," carrying two men and a woman on a non-stop flight from New York to rome, was missing today.

Due to arrive here around midnight last night, no report of it has been received since 11:50 a. m., yesterday, eastern standard time, when the liner Paris reported sighting a plane 400 miles off the southern coast of Ireland.

At 1:16 a. m., today the 43 hours given as the limit of time its gasoline supply could last had passed. Officials at the Ciampino airport here, where lights were kept burning through the night, expressed deep concern.

The missing flyers are William Ulbrich, pilot, of Mineola, N. Y.; Miss Edna Newcomer, 28-year-old undergraduate nurse of Williamsport, Pa., and Dr. Leon M. Pisculli of Yonkers, N. Y., the commander of the expedition.

Body Recovered.

SAN BENITO, Sept. 15.—(AP)—The body of James Brockway, 31, international boundary commissioner engineer who drowned in the flooded Rio Grande yesterday at Hidalgo, was recovered today. Brockway lost his life when a boat in which he ventured out to measure the river capsized.

CHARGED MAJOR OIL INTERESTS SPONSOR THREE LAND BILLS

MEMBERS HOUSE IN MORNING WRANGLE OVER BILL AFFECTING STATE LANDS

AUSTIN, Sept. 15.—(AP)—Charges that large oil interests were sponsoring three bills affecting state lands in West Texas in furtherance of their own ends were made and denied today in the house of the Texas legislature.

The statements were made during consideration of one of the bills, which, sponsors said was designed to remove the cloud now hovering over land titles in the West Texas area, where the state has large land interests.

The house spent virtually the entire morning on the bill without taking action.

Representative C. E. Farmer of Fort Worth charged the bill was "sugar coated" and would cause the loss of millions of dollars to the public free school fund. Farmer said the bill was sponsored by oil companies, interested in West Texas oil lands, to enrich themselves at the expense of the state. Farmer charged that one Dallas law firm would receive a fee of $350,000 if the bill was passed

Opponents of the bill claimed it would allow owners of land purchased from the state to deliberately forfeit their land and buy it back on term that would vitiate a

GIFFORD FORECASTS BETTER TIMES BUT EXPECTS COMING WINTER TO BE "HARD ONE"

WASHINGTON, Sept. 15.—(AP)—Speaking hopefully of indications of business recovery, Walter S. Gifford, president of the American Telephone and Telegraph company, today told the Welfare and Relief Mobilization conference:

"If I entertained for a moment the thought that our present unemployment and economic situation had any of the elements of permanence, I, for one, would wish to evolve other plans rather than to again mobilize the private welfare and relief resources.

"The problem which particularly concerns this conference, as I see it, is to alleviate so far as humanely possible distress among the unemployed while the battle against the depression is being won and, at the same time, to carry on the essential, long-established private social welfare activities of the country"

Gifford, who is president of the Charity Organization Society of New York, said that regardless of economic improvement the coming winter would be a "hard one," necessitating close co-operation between public and private welfare agencies and between communities and the state. He urged that a community program be adopted in advance.

Local responsibility in meeting relief needs, Gifford said, must be continued, otherwise there would be greater hardships to those who are in want, adding that the foundation on which local relief activities rest—privately organized social work—must remain secure. There are thousands of cases, he said, which public funds can not reach.

CHILEAN REVOLT FAILS STAY PUT; AIRMEN IN HIDING

EXPECTED DAVILA OUSTED ONLY FEW HOURS PREVIOUSLY, WILL COME BACK

SANTIAGO, Chile, Sept. 15.—(AP)—Colonel Arturo Merino Benitez, leader of the revolt which forced Carlos Davila to resign the presidency Tuesday, was captured by federal troops today at Ovalle.

A regiment of Carabineers were reorted to have captured 52 air service officers, 50 merchanics and 50 planes, in addition to Colonel Merino who was chief of the air service. The prisoners were to be brought to Santiago.

The air service chief fled from the capital yesterday when General Bartolome Blanche, army commander-in-chief, temporarily resigned as acting president. General Blanche resumed office a few hours later and announced that he would hold it with the aid of the army.

The rebel fliers were gathered at a banquet when the federal troops arrived. They had dug defense trenches and made numerous observation flights up to midnight last night, but the federal attack came unexpectedly and found them unprepared.

Col. Merino refused to surrender but was overpowered. The rebel fliers tried to escape by plane but the federal machine gun fire discouraged them. Approximately 200 prisoners were taken.

SANTIAGO, Chile, Sept. 15.—(AP)—The Chilean air service was "hiding out" today, sought by troops of the regular army, when a revolt in which the aviators participated Tuesday apparently had backfired.

After several quick shifts in the political situation yesterday, Gen. Bartolome Blanche, commander-in-chief of the army, was still at the head of the government although there were reports that

TWO CHARGED WITH RECEIVING STOLEN PROPERTY THURSDAY

Two men were bound over to await the action of the Navarro county grand jury in October at the conclusion of their examining trials Thursday morning before Judge Sam B. Jordan on four cases of alleged receiving and concealing stolen property. Two of the cases were felonies and the other two were misdemeanors. The felony charge bonds were of $500 and the misdemeanor bonds were $250 each.

The cases were the result of investigations conducted by the city police department in connection with the recent burglarizing of the Navarro Wholesale company. Safeway and Jackson stores in which a quantity of cigarettes were taken. Three boys are in jail on burglary and theft charges for these burglaries.

It is alleged the two men accused of receiving and concealing stolen property purchased a quantity of stolen cigarettes from the three boys charged with burglary and theft.

JAPANESE SIGNED ALLIANCE TREATY WITH MANCHUKUO

THE CHINESE GOVERNMENT MAKES FORMAL PROTEST OF TREATY IN NOTES

CHANGCHUN, Sept. 15. —(AP)—The state of Manchukuo, youngest of the world's commonwealths and born of the successful military campaign of the Japanese army in Manchuria last fall, was recognized officially by Japan today.

At a drab and listless ceremony in the old salt administration building here, in the presence of Manchukuo officials and their corps of Japanese advisors, Cheng Hsiao-Hsu, premier of Manchukuo and General Nobuyoshi Muto, special envoy of the Japanese Mikado, affixed their names, using a tiny brush instead of a pen.

The treaty calls for a defensive alliance between the two states and marks the first recognition of the new nation by a foreign power.

The signing occupied less than 10 minutes. General Muto signed first, then Premier Creng. Henry Pu-Yi, who wore an inscrutable Mona Lisa smile, looked on.

The scene resembled a war conference more than a peace conference. Japanese military officials packed the room during the ceremony, generals, colonels, and majors, all resplendent in red, yellow and gold uniforms.

An oriental tone was provided by the presence of a number of aged Mongol and Manchu princes wearing queues.

After signing the treaty General Muto proposed Henr Pu-Yi's health in champagne and Mr. Pu-Yi returned the compliment. To signalize the event the Mikado sent Pu-Yi a magnificent set of armor, worked in gold and silver and a string of pearls to Madame Pu-Yi.

The setting for the ceremony was as unostentatious as the creation of the new state a few months ago. The room in which Kappleman died from injuries inflicted with a hatchet she wielded August 16, after her father had threatened the entire family, she said. Kappelman was survived by his widow, three daughters and one son, all living in New Braunfels.

FIFTY-FIVE MEN KILLED AS TROOP TRAIN IS WRECKED

CONVEYANCE FRENCH FOREIGN LEGION HURTLES 250 FEET INTO RAVINE

ORAN, Algeria, Sept. 15.—(AP)—Fifty-five fighting men of France's famous Foreign Legion were dead today after an accident sent a troop train hurtling into a ravine yesterday near Tlemcen, 70 miles southwest of here, in the foothills of the Atlas Mountains.

The troops were en route from Sidi Del Abbes, Algeria, to Dudja, Morocco, the territory made famous by Abd El Krim a few years ago when he stubbornly resisted French and Spanish forces.

General Paul Rollet, inspector of the Foreign Legion, who directed the rescue work, was almost in tears over the loss of so many of his dashing Legionnaires.

"I had 508 brave men on that train,' he said, his voice breaking with grief, "and ho wmany will answer the roll call now?"

The district is devoid of railway lines except for the coastal line from Morocco City to Algeria. French army authorities often use this line for troop transportation although it is al osthe principal public means of conveyance along the North African coast.

Thirty-one cars and a baggage coach made the plunge into the ravine with the locomotive. Most of the train crew members also were killed. Rescue work was hampered by lack of means of communication but the whole population of the town of Turenne, nearby, turned out to help.

WAR DEPARTMEN... CENSURED BY V... LEGION DELEGAT...

FRANKING HURLEY SPEECH BRINGS DEMAND FOR VOTE OF CENSURE

AUDITORIUM PORTLAND, Ore., Sept. 15.—(AP)—A resolution favoring immediate cash payment of the soldier's bonus was passed on a roll call vote today at the closing session of the fourteenth annual convenof the American Legion.

The vote on the bonus was 1,167 for to 109 against.

The action wa staken in face of a statement by President Hoover last night that such payment would be fatal to economic recovery.

The announcement of the overwhelming vote was greeted with a great shout of approval.

AUDITORIUM, Portland, Ore., Sept. 15.—(AP)—The war department was censured in a viva voce vote today at the national convention of the American Legion. An outbreak of shouting after the vote interrupted proceedings for a time.

The vote was taken after Harry M. Arthur, department commander of South Carolina, lodged a complaint because envelopes containing a speech by Secretary of War Patrick J. Hurley on the bonus marchers had been placed in the chairs of all delegates. These envelopes bore the frank of the war department.

After Arthur shouted his complaint, the convention by acclamation declared its opposition to such action by the war department "or any other governmental department."

The envelopes contained sheets headed "Statements by the Hon. Patrick J. Hurley, Secretary of War, 'Bonus Marchers in Washington.'"

It said in introduction: "In the interests of truth and accuracy, I want to place before you the following pertinent facts nout the

ROOSEVELT'S FARM RELIEF PLANS LONG IN THEIR MAKING

DEMOCRATIC NOMINEE HAS BEEN STUDYING QUESTION FOR MANY WEEKS

By WALTER T. BROWN.

ABOARD ROOSEVELT SPECIAL, EN ROUTE TO DENVER, Sept. 15.—(AP)—Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt decided today to make one of his major speeches Saturday night at Salt Lake City.

The speech will be devoted to railroads. The democratic presidential nominee received stirring welcomes from good sized crowds at different towns through which his train passe in Kansas and Colorado today as it climbed into the Rockies.

Back platform appearances and brief talks were made at Colby and Goodland, Kansas and in smaller towns that rose up at intervals upon the high prairies.

"We are trying to bring the farm dollar up to the value of the industrial dollar, the democratic presidential candidate told the crowd at Colby.

"I think that if we all pull together for the next four years we will succeed in accomplishing that purpose.

"Back in my home country we have a section of abandoned land called Kansas. The reason it was called that is that a number of families were persuaded by railroad agents years ago to pull up stakes and move to Kansas.

"Maybe some of their people are still here. I wish that I could stay longer and get first hand information from you people. I realize the difficulties you have been through. You are not the only people who have the same kind of troubles.'

ABOARD ROOSEVELT SPECIAL, EN ROUTE TO DENVER, Sept. 15.—(AP)—According to an advisor to Governor Roosevelt, the democratic presidential nominee's speech on the farm problem, delivered yesterday at Topeka, had been several months in the making and was reviewed by many farm leaders, economists and financiers.

The Associated Press was advised that Mr. Roosevelt began assembling information on the farm situation as early as last April so that it would be immediately available in the event

It was a great day for the Fergusons, who long have occupied the political limelight in Texas. For 18 years they have been alternately accepted and rejected by the voters and many times their political foes predicted that they were "through." But they "came back" in fine style yesterday in what was perhaps their greatest triumph as they watched 3,000 delegates climb into their seats, waving handkerchiefs, hats, banners and broomsticks and shout themselves hoarse for "Ma" and "Jim."

Both Former Governors.

Both of the Fergusons have been governor of Texas. Mrs. Ferguson, the last to hold the office, was elected in 1924 as a "vindication" of her husband, who had been impeached and removed from office in 1917. She was defeated by Dan Moody in 1926, and by the incumbent, Gov. R. S. Sterling, when she sought to return to the office two years ago.

Since the impeachment of Ferguson many party members have steadfastly refused to support either of the Fergusons as the nominee. Party differences were such that when the Lubbock convention met there were many predictions that a split might occur, resulting in two conventions.

Attending delegates believed they saw party bitterness vanish yesterday when Mrs. Ferguson announced that she intended to be the "governor of all the people," and stated that "I not only invite but want the advice and co-operation of my opposition."

Her husband immediately followed her to the platform, in response to the cries of "We want Jim!" from the convention floor, and pleaded for party harmony. He minimized the threat of bolters and expressed the belief that most Texas Dmocrats would "go down the line with my wife."

Contest Suit Filed.

But before the delegates left the convention hall they were greeted with press reports from Austin that supporters of Sterling had filed a contest of the election returns, charging illegal balloting.

The convention itself was wholly Ferguson. The fight which Sterling announced upon arrival here he wolud take to the convention floor, did not develop. In fact, few Sterling supporters attended the sessions. The governor remained in his room with friends and listened to proceedings over the radio.

The only issue which brought out a fight in keeping with pre-convention forecasts, came up over the refusal of the convention to accept the nomination of Charles I. Francis, strong Sterling leader of Wichita Falls, as executive committeeman from the twenty-third district. The assembly was in riotous tumult for several minutes. Francis finally was removed and T. E. Boone of Wichita Falls seated.

Old Committeeman Replaced

Francis was one of the few old committeemen who had succeeded in retaining their seats through the district caucuses, most of them having been replaced by Ferguson supporters.

The convention again rebuked Francis and the old committee by passing a resolution reversing the action of the outgoing committee in alleging corruption in the recent primary and asking for a judicial recount of the ballots.

Ferguson, who was invited to appear before the resolutions committee, easily controlled the committee's activities and his recommendations were accepted as the party platform. The terse document which he presented was described by committee members as "worthy of a Jefferson."

It evaded the liquor question, at his suggestion, except to recommend the wholehearted endorsement of the full national platform which contains a plank for repeal.

Aside from Mrs. Ferguson's "10 points," the platform contained only two party pledges, one to aid and promote agriculture and the interests of labor and the other to cut taxes and to reduce government expenditures "at least one-fourth."

The 25 per cent minimum was suggested by State Senator W. K. Hopkins of Gonzales and was the only amendment to Ferguson's original document.

Efforts of committee members to have the "10 points" stricken from the platform were opposed by Ferguson.

Although evading the prohibition question the resolutions committee brought up the controversial issue of the cash payment of the soldiers' bonus, endorsed its payment and memoralized Texas' representatives in Washington to support such a measure. A third resoluiton endorsed the proposed constitutional amendment which would permit legislative appropriation to support the centennial celebration in 1936.

A resolution proposing the amendment of the Terrell election law, substituting the preferential ballot or the old convention system for the present primary method of selecting party nominees, did not pass the sub-committee.

...N PESSIMISTS OVERRULE OPTIMISTS, TO PEOPLE'S WOE

Faint Hearts Shrank From Difficult And Dangerous Opportunity and All Israel Paid The Price--- Looking Into Our Own Tomorrow

BY WILLIAM T. ELLIS.

What shall we do when the experts disagree? In striking similarity to the case of the ancient Israelites, our modern world stands on the threshold of a new era, a vast opportunity; but the men on whom we depend for reports offer conflicting views. Wholly inrreconcilable programs are presented society today by those who claim to be authorities, just as the twelve spies sent up from Sinai into Canaan flatly disagreed.

Israel was on the verge of entering the Promised Land. Like a good commander, Moses sent out twelve trusted and able men to make careful report upon conditions in Canaan. For forty days these representatives of the twelve tribes traversed the land, clear up to Mamath, under the shadow of Mount Harmon. They followed the Great Road, which then, as now, cut through the center of the land, from North to South. Also they made side trips to the Mediterranean coast and to the Jordan Valley. It must be granted that they did a thorough job.

Eyes, Timid and Brave.

But what a difference in the findings—which were, as always, a difference in the characters of the observers. No conditions can arise which are unaffected by the nature of the persons who deal with them. Why was the Wickersham Report to President Hoover a futile muddle? Because the men who made it were what Kipling calls "brittle intellectuals, who crack beneath a strain." Every fact-finding commission reveals first the facts concerning the qualities of the commission itself.

Before ever the twelve set their faces northward, upon their momentous mission in behalf of Israel, the outcome was predetermined by the characteristics of the spies themselves. Timid men think timidly; brave men think bravely. Caution, is a word that too often cloaks cowardice, was the trait of the ten of the twelve: and thereby they brought forty years of woe upon their nation.

"Audace, Tojours Audace!"

Is the wise French saying. Courage, ever courage, and yet more courage—such is the maxim of achievement. The two brave-hearted spies were the only ones in the group. Their dauntless optimism, which was in their spirits before it was in their report, held more of wisdom than all the croakings of the pessimists.

Consequences of Character.

Because we here have hold of a vital truth for the times, let us make sure of it before we pass to the incidental details of the Lesson story. All that befell was contingent upon the character of the twelve spies. Little though they perceived it, they had the fate of a generation of their people in their hands. It was an awesome thing to be a responsible shaper of the action of one's community or nation in a crisis time. According to the discernment and decesion of relatively few men in this Depression will be the future of civilization.

That is why we are concerned that so many outstanding men, into whose fibre the dry rot of love of money or love of position has eaten its deadly way, are proving timid and wavering and small-minded in this time of testing. It almost seems as if ours is not a brave, resolute and audacious generation. Thorugh slow, insidious years, simple faith in God has been weakened; and with that loss, as always, gas gone a debilitation of ideals and of character. Thus has come to pass a preponderance of pessimism, doubt and fear characterized those who should be our leaders.

Diverse Meaning From Some Facts.

As every judge and lawyer knows, no witnesses made identical reports of the same incident. These twelve emissaries of Israel did agree that the land to the north was a fat land, "flowing with milk and honey." The big bunch of grapes which they bore was proof of the productivity of the soil. (By the way, in the vineyards south of Hebron, in that same Valley of Eshcol, I have seen grapes growing in clusters of enormous size.) They told of the lusty inhabitants and of their strong cities.

But the differences lay in the eyes of those who made the majority and minority reports. The ten timid ones saw the Canaanites as giants, and themselves as grasshoppers. Now we may as well write it down as a sure thing that the man who thinks of himself as a grasshopper, a worm, or an insect is hopeless as a helper and heartener of his fellows. The Scotch saying is a good prayer: "Lord, gie us a gude conceit o' oursel's." For faith in God expresses itself by faith in the servant whom He enables.

Eyesight is affected by heart. The timorous ten were feeble-hearted, and so saw themselves as of no account, and their potential adversaries as heroes and giants. On the other hand, stout-hearted Caleb and Joshua were men of valor and of optimism. They had great faith in themselves and great faith in their fellows and in God. So they saw no insuperable obstacle to the conquest of Canaan. They knew all that their companions knew; but they also perceived the intangible factors in the case, which were spiritual.

Moving The Mass Mind.

We picture the scene at Kadesh-Barnea when the spies returned. For forty days they had been gone. Their possible experiences and findings were discussed daily and hourly in every tent. As the long weeks passed without their return, interest heightened. Anxous ones foretold that they would not come back at all; the land had devoured them.

When lookouts reported the company as in sight on the main road, up beyond the chalk hills, excitement grew high in the camp. Everybody thronged out to the plain, before the reservoir, to await the fateful tidings.

And when the ten had told their tale of fortified cities, of giants alongside of whom Israelites were as grasshoppers, and of fearsome conditions and population, a riot ensued. There was wailing and shrieking and clamoring. Recriminations filled the air, curses upon Moses for ever having brought them out of Egypt. Sheer panic and despair seized the multitude, so contagious are fear and pessimism.

Two Against the Tide.

But stay: who are these two disdainful and angry figures standing apart from the ten pessimists? Disgust and protest are written on their faces and in their attitude. By sheer force of personality they stilled the clamor of the wailing multitude. They would not have their voices drowned out; they would be heard.

No silent, sullen, defeatist acquiescence in the will of the timid majority for them.

Caleb and Joshua, heroes who were to be the hope and help of Israel in the future, were these men with a minority report of courage and conquest. Their ringing summons was to immediate action: "Let us go up at once, and possess it; for we are well able to overcome it."

In vain they pleaded and protested. The tide of popular opinion was against them. Centuries of slavery in Egypt had vitiated the virility of the host. They were not ready for counsel of courage. The grasshopper complex dominated them. Therefore they were doomed to spend forty years in the wilderness, until a new generation should grow up, better qualified to enter into the Promised Land.

COURT ACTION IS STARTED IN AUSTIN CONTEST ELECTION

AUSTIN, Sept. 14.—(AP)—The battle between Governor R. S. Sterling and Mrs. Miriam A. Ferguson over the democratic gubernatorial nomination, was in the courts today for settlement.

Within a few hours after Mrs. Ferguson was nominated at Lubback yesterday Sterling filed a court contest of the run-off primary election and the action of the state executive commitee and the convention in certifying her as the nominee.

The suit was brought before District Judge W. F. Robertson in Travis county district court.

It was not immediately known what effect the suit would have on certification of the party's candidates for the November election by the secretary of state. The law provided the nominees must be certified to county officials at least 30 days before the election. The election will be held Nov. 8.

The belief was beneral that the district court contest would consume considerable time. It also was regarded as likely that an appeal would be taken through the court of civil appeals to the supreme court, regardless of the outcome of the case in the trial court. This would require additional time and might upset the usual election procedure, it was pointed out.

Defendants will have five days after service of citation within which to file an answer. Mrs. Ferguson and her husband, former Gov. James E. Ferguson, were not expected to arrive at the capital before tomorrow from the Lubbock convention.

Governor Sterling claimed in his petition that he received a majority of "upwards of 20,000" of the legal, qualified votes cast in the run-off primary August 27.

The governor's petition contained seven allegations of illegal voting practices. An attached list named 130 counties in which it was charged that votes were cast illegally.

The court was asked to hold a hearing as soon as possible to cast out "upwards of 20,000 illegal votes" and to declare Mr. Sterling the gubernatorial nominee.

Sam McCorkle of Mexia, who brought the petition here by plane, had planned to confer with Judge Roberston today regarding a date for beginning the hearing but he later decided to return to Dallas to obtain additional evidence to support the allegations. Mrs. Ferguson and her husband and co-defendant, James E. Ferguson, were expected to file an answer within a few days.

Says Woman Disqualified.

In his contest suit, Governor Sterling contended that Mrs. Ferguson was disqualified from holding the governor's office because her husband "is now and has been a lawyer duly qualified to practice law in the state of Texas. This charge was not explained in the petition but lawyers about the capitol pointed to the constitutional inhibition against governors accepting outside remuneration while in office and the state community property statute providing that a wife shares equally in her husband's income.

The petition alleged that "upward of 3,000 ballots" were thrown out in the Sterling counties of Dallas, Tarrant, Harris and others because the ballots assertedly were defaced or mutilated in that the voters had crossed or marked out portions of their ballots. Governor Sterling claimed that such votes were entitled to be counted.

Non-Residents Vote.

Another charge stated that in border counties, residents from Oklahoma, Arkansas and Louisiana were transported by trucks and other means into Texas in a systematized way and induced to vote. A third allegation was that negroes were allowed to vote in four or more counties in violation of the instructions of the state democratic executive committee and that "such votes in practically every instance were cast against Ross S. Sterling."

In Gregg, Smith, Rusk, Upshur, Montgomery, and other counties "upwards of 3,000 voters" who did not reside in Texas were allowed to vote, the petition alleged.

In various sections of the state, the petition continued, certain supporters and election officials conspired to defeat the will of the people by taking transient persons off freight trains and the streets, which persons were induced by "various illegal means" to go to the polls and vote. Fraudulent affidavits were used in the voting of these transients, the suit contended.

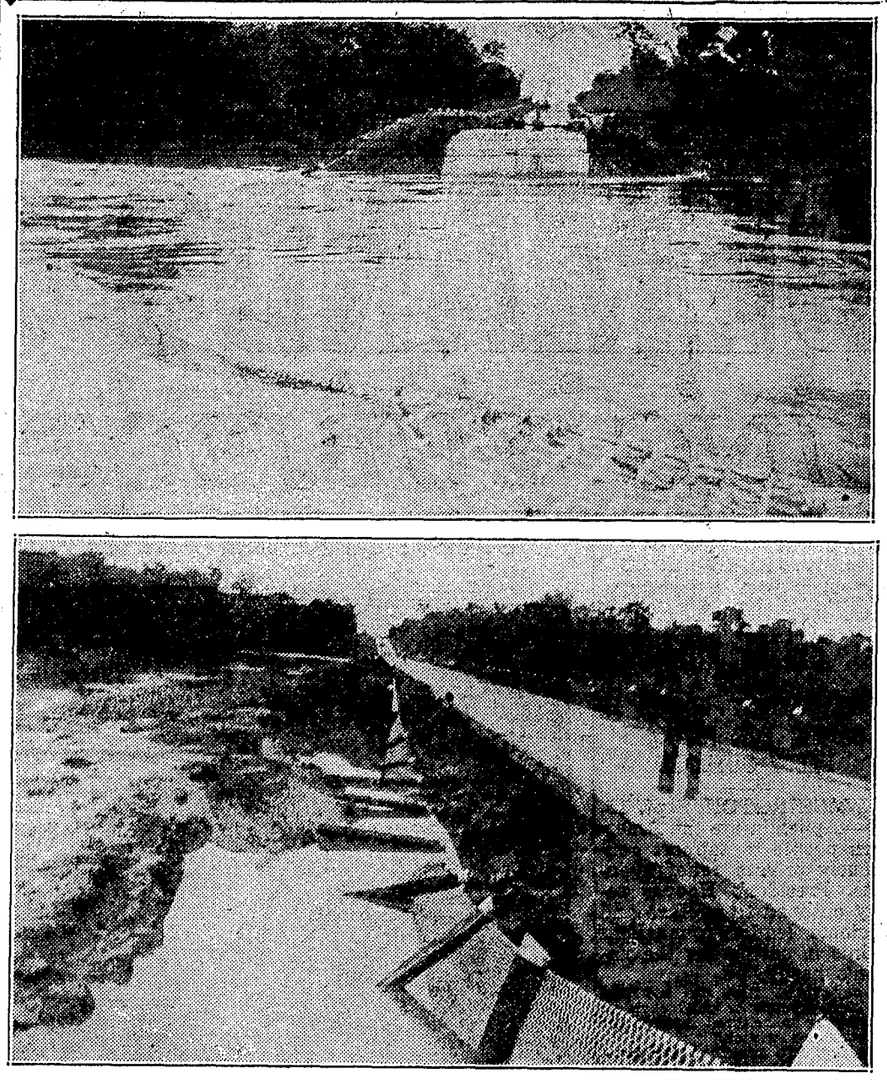

Poll Lists Not Furnished.

Another charge of illegality was that in many counties poll tax lists were not furnished the election judges as required by law and that "numerous and varied fradulent votes have been cast and tabulated in numerous sections of the state controlled by election judges favorable to Miriam A. Ferguson."

The final charge alleged "that affidavits were prepared by Ferguson supporters in some sections of the state that were not a part of the official election supplies which were designated 'out-of-state voters' and furnished to non-residents of Texas by election officials and others to form a basis for a pretended legal right to vote and showed a system of election frauds in the part of the state in which these affidavits were prepared and used."

Attorneys for Governor Sterling were listed as McCorkle, M. M. Crane of Dallas, veteran democratic leader and former attorney general; C. S. Bradley of Mexia, S. J. Callaway of Fort Worth and R. R. Stuart of Fort Worth.

FLOOD DAMAGE IN FREESTONE COUNTY MANY THOUSANDS

FAIRFIELD, Sept. 10.—(Spl.)—Beginning last Saturday at 7 p. m. and ending at 7 p. m. Tuesday a standard rain guage here registered 19.87 inches of rain. At times the precipitation assumed the proportions of a waterspout and water was several inches deep on level ground, and much damage was done streets and fences. Highways were damaged many thousands of dollars all over the county.

Farmers lost heavily, many are almost ruined as they lost most or all of their cotton and corn as well, as some cattle, hogs and work stock.

Cattlemen have been working desperately the past few days trying to get their stock out of Trinity river bottom before they were swept away. It is thought that the loss in livestock has been rather heavy.

Conservative farmers estimated that the loss in cotton alone will amount to over 500 bales.

Hundreds of acres of fine bottom cotton and corn on Trinity river are covered with water and these crops are expected to be a total loss.

The boll weevil is doing much damage. Also indications are that the leaf worm will soon attack in force.

What promised to be a prosperous season has been turned into chaos and no one knows just where he is at present.

MILDRED SCHOOLS WILL OPEN MONDAY; OUTLOOK PROMISING

MILDRED, Sept. 13. — The schools in the Mildred Consolidated District will begin work Monday, Sept. 19th at 8:45 with the following faculty in charge:

H. A. Garland, superintendent and mathematics.

S. L. Adams, vocational agriculture.

T. C. Younger, coach, history and science.

Miss Beatrice Bass, English and Spanish.

Miss Lorene Lovett, commerce.

Miss Mary Patterson, seventh grade.

Miss Eloise Johnston, second grade.

Miss Maudine Smith, primary.

Paul Henserling, rrincipal Mildred grammar school.

Miss Gladys Harbin, third and fourth grades.

Miss Allie Bransom, primary.

The outlook is promising. Our school and all concerned face the future with courage.

Our boys soon will make their debut in the football circles. Just now the boys and Coach Younger are suffering from a mild case of optimism. It would be fine should this case continue through Thanksgiving. Regardless, here is hoping that these splendid young men profit by their experience.

Our curriculum, in high school, offers plenty of latitude for a pupil to select work that is interesting. Yet we do not believe we have gone too far in our effort to make an elastic curriculum.

The high school offers the following affiliated courses:

English, four years; History, three years; Civics, one year; Mathematics, thre and one half years; Science, two years (Gen. Science and Biology); Vocational Agriculture, two years (one and one-half affiliated credits); Spanish, two years; Bookkeeping, one year; Stenography, one year; Typing, one year (one half credit).

H. A. GARLAND.

Card of Thanks.

We wish to express our sincere and heart-felt thanks and appreciation to the many friends and neighbors who were kind and thoughtful to us during the recent last illness of our husband and father, J. W. Lawhon.

DEMOCRATS URGED CONTRIBUTE FUNDS NATIONAL CAMPAIGN

SET-UP HAS BEEN ANNOUNCED FOR THE SOLICITATION OF NEEDED MONEY

With the great victory gained in Maine on Monday when the Democrats elected the governor for the first time in eighteen years and won two of the three congressional seats from that rock-ribbed republican stronghold both sides in the coming national campaign have begun intensive work—the Republicans to stave off defeat that is staring them in the face, and the Democrats to take advantage of conditions that pressage national party victory.

All his means that the Democrats, already still in debt from the 1928 campaign, must have money, and this money must come from the rank and file of the party—small contributions from as many sources as possible. The Democratic party has few sources of large contributions and if the man in the street fails to come across with contributions there will be a shortage of funds at this crucial time. A state-wide campaign funds set-up has been organized with Roy Miller of Corpus Christi as the state chairman.

Each congressional district has a man and a woman chairman and each of these districts a director, whose duty it is to see that each county has a local chairman for the purpose of seeking out and collecting these funds. A. A. Allison has again been named as chairman of the Sixth congressional district with Mrs. Sam Cox of Mexia as co-chairman. Burrus Jackson of Hillsboro has been named director for this district and he in turn has named Mrs. R. B. Mitchell of Corsicana as local or county chairman, who will receive the funds and see that each contributor receives a receipt from national headquarters. Funds may also be sent to the Daily Sun office and they will be turned over to Mrs. Mitchell.

The need of funds is urgent and the carrying of Texas and other recalitrant Democratic states for Roosevelt and Garner this year is absolutely necessary for the success of the national ticket and the placing of the United States government back in the hands of the people once more and the restoration of prosperity to the nation and the world.

COUNTY DELINQUENT TAXES MAY BE PAID WITHOUT PENALTIES

Delinquent taxes, regardless of the years they are due, can be paid at the tax collector's office from now until Dec. 31, 1932, without interest or penalties, according to an announcement by Mrs. Joe Woods, tax collector for Navarro county.

In a number of instances, the interest and penalties amount to almost as much as the taxes due and it is pointed out that if he taxes are paid now, a considerable saving can be effected.

The legislature recently passed a measure allowing the elimination of penalties and interest as an emergency measure to aid property owners in arrears with their taxes to get their tax matters cleared without the excessive inerest and penalties.

If the delinquent taxes are not paid by Dec. 31st, the interest and penalties will again be added to the principal sum owed by the property owner.

All of America's phenomenal business enterprises can trace their growth to large scale advertising. By advertising the trade name "kodak" the Eastman Company gained pre-eminence in the manufacture and sale of cameras and photographic supplies. Newspaper advertising formed the magic carpet on which such products as Wrigley's gum, Fletcher's Castoria, the Ford, the Victor talking machine and countless others soared to world-wide fame and to fabulous wealth for their creators and advertisers. Unceasing and unbounded advertising explains why the American says "Kodak" for camera, "Victrola" for phonograph, "Uneeda Biscuit" for cracker and "Hershey bar" for chocolate bar. In every kind of business there is some far-seeing and enterprising manufacturer, distributor or merchant who places himself and his product above the common level by setting advertising to work for them.

What has been accomplished in the past through advertising is being duplicated or excelled today by national manufacturers and local merchants. A new fabric is made famous and given a national demand almost overnight by widespread advertising. A new automobile builds up a national demand for itself months before it is placed on display with the aid of extensive advertising. In every community there are old merchants who have retained a thriving trade through many years by regular and heavy advertising or who are building-up prosperous businesses in new stores by the old rule "advertising pays." Advertising has become just as essential to business success as service and storeroom.

UNEMPLOYED GRADUATES.

Disillusionment has been the lot of the 1932 college graduate, if he at all entertained the notion that a diploma could launch a career even in the midst of a major depression. Less than 35 per cent of this year's graduates have found employment, and included among those who have are the thousands whose sole employment thus far has been waiting for the first client, patient or customer.

Young men and women unfortunate enough to finish their education in this unhappy year have discovered that toward youthful graduates the world is more liberal with its congratulations than with a livelihood. Theirs has been a sad awakening.

Discouraged and disappointed, these young men and women find little comfort in the knowledge that disillusionment is sometimes the beginning of wisdom. They should remember, however, that many leaders of today are men whose first encounter with the world of affairs came during the panics of 1893 and 1907.

It takes a better head and stronger character to succeed today than it did four years ago. Almost anybody could make money and build up a good business or professional practice during the bonanza. Today few can. But those who do their best today and keep everlastingly at it will come out on top of the next prosperity wave. Success today may consist of merely keeping one's head above water.

JUST FOLKS

FUNDAMENTALS

We must get back to our bases,
the old simple truths of all time:
That only by steadfast endeavor
was mortal intended to climb;
That life pays no heed to the scoffer, but treads its immutable way,
And the joys which are claimed without labor are lost with the first rainy day.

Security comes with deserving and not from the goddess of chance.
The soldier who'd live through the battle must learn how to handle his lance.
Life's laws will not alter to please us, unchanged to the end they remain.
Who wants the assurances of knowledge, must study in wisdom to gain.

And whether we face it with scorning, or whether we like it or no,
Who seek to be honored and trusted has only the one road to go.
We may talk about riches and praise them, but no man can call them secure,
For it's only the things of the spirit, such as courage and faith which endure.

We must get back to our bases;
to the havens we've known in the past;
To a cheerful submission to duty
wherever our fortunes are cast;
To the tasks which are spread out before us and give them the best we possess,
And admit that in character only a man may be sure of success.

UNCLE SAM'S MONOPOLY.

The federal government's monopoly of the carriage of mail over post routes was asserted in the early infancy of the United States and, as to letters, has been perfected beyond challenge since by congress. Only the expected occurs when now, after the recent increase of letter postage to three cents an ounce, the postal authorities investigate alleged violations of the monopoly by private messenger service In numbers of the large cities, inquiries by post office inspectors are going on, with prosecutions of proven violations threatened.

The monopoly extends to the transmission or "letters and packets." When the parcel post was created in 1910, it was contended that "packets" meant parcels and that the government could put the express companies out of business altogether. An attorney-general's opinion in 1883 had ruled that the word referred merely to bundles of letters, and in 1910 a federal court held that the post office, in permitting for years the private carriage of parcels, had waived its monopoly over parcels. Possibly a revived insistence that the monopoly includes parcels might succeed, but the present laws assert only the monopoly over letters. It is the letters part of the postal business which the lately active postal officers are seeking to protect.

Though it has long been conceded both that the monopoly over letters exists and that their transmission also ought to be reserved to and firmly protected by the national power, difficult questions arise. Is any address accessible to a city mail carrier on a post route? Just what are the cases in which, as one of the laws reads, letters may be privately sent "by special messenger employed for the particular occasion only?"

Mistaken government zeal will result in intrusions certain to be resented. The snooping may cost more than the additional stamp sales it brings about. With the government's rights not as widely known as they might be, the situation, first at least, calls for a thorough campaign of education.

According to a Swiss scientist the music nerve is in the foot and this may be the main reason for the pedals on a piano.

There's many a tall tombstone that is sacred to the memory of post-mortem vanity.

A primary is a lot more democratic than the old style convention. More people get the bribe money.

Still, the more you see of some people the more you believe in birth control.

Come, Come! the Eclipse Is Over! ---By Clive Weed

BEER AND PROSPERITY

It is claimed that a certain mellowness is imparted beer by staves of German wood which our domestic barrels are powerless to counterfeit; but it is hardly politic for brewers here to go too deeply into the matter at this time. One of the larger New York companies, in its exuberance over the possible advent of legal beer, is acquiring a shipload of imported kegs and announces the transaction proudly. We doubt if this is the part of wisdom.

Beer is being promoted as a means of bringing thousands of the idle back to jobs. This is its great economic justification, and one more largely dwelt on than its merits as a solace on warm afternoons. However, its return will not prove much of a boost for the supposedly impoverished coopers of the land if its containers are to be bought abroad. The brewers might better wait until beer is firmly established on a bring-back-prosperity basis before bothering too much about niceties of flavor and mellow tang.

In fact, it might be judicious to make and keep it a 100 per cent domestic proposition. Start pointing out the superiority of imported barrels, and it is bound to be suggested that imported beer has its superiorities as well, and as long as barrels are being brought into the country anyway they might as well be filled with Pilsner before they are put aboard the boat.

CULINARY FINESSE.

Many women have taken up cooking as a fine art and as a new asset in social entertainment. Some are expert to the degree of preparing an elaborate dinner. Others go in for toothsome cakes, spicy sauces or unusual desserts. But most hostesses try to excel in the making of dishes which prove tempting at very late suppers or very early breakfasts.

At these postscript parties all of the latest electrical gadgets of cooking are used. Toasters that eject their slices when they are done to a turn, egg-boilers that nest six eggs neatly in a frame, coffee-urns, grills and waffle-irons are all amusing toys to play with, especially when one is ravishingly hungry. And a guest set to feed a toaster or stir a sauce is happily entertained until it is time to serve.

For any one whose particular job is not cooking, the equipment of the modern kitchen has a fascination. Youngsters are delighted if allowed to have a bit of crust and some fruit to make a small pie. Stoves on which little girls make strange concoctions were cherished at Christmas.

In other days even kings have been known to find an appeal in the present vogue. If the fad spreads to the men, the Prince of Wales soon may be specializing in that savory called "angels on horseback," and that little Welshman, David Lloyd George, may be the creator of a new and improved Welsh concoction.

There is tonic in praise. A little applesauce every day keeps the doctor away.

THE TAXPAYER PAYS

Taxpayers of the progressive modern American city do not need the teachings of a Coue to tell them that the cost of municipal goverment is getting higher and higher every day in every way. Neither must they repeat that formula many times to themselves to convince themselves of that fact.

When these cities were small towns they only collected enough taxes to pay the salaries of a one-man police department and a street commissioner, who tended the street-lamps twice a day and shoveled mud from the crossings after exceptionally wet weather. If it was a town of more than ordinary public wealth, it also operated a street sprinkler in the dusty summer. Of course a few dollars were invested in a hand drawn hose reel for the volunteer fire department.

In the last score of years the operations and ministrations of the representative city have multiplied like rabbits. Today taxes are collected to pave and maintain streets, lay sewers, operate costly but efficient street lighting systems, maintain parks; inspect food, public eating places and weights and measures; plant spray and trim shade trees; wage war on the smoke nuisance; build new and larger public edifices; operate expensive fire departments; build stadiums, bathing pools and playgrounds; control traffic and police the community; and so on ad infinitum.

Every obligation assumed means a tax boost and still the public clamors for more bureaucracy when it is not registering protests against increasing tax-rates. Some people have a faculty for forgetting that improvements must be paid for.

COMMUNITY SPIRIT.

Civic pride and community spirit are not measured in costly publicity campaigns, high-salaried press agents, population and public wealth. If they were, the small town would register but faintly these greatly-to-be-desired community virtues.

The truth is that civic pride and community spirit are to be found in their purest and most unselfish form in the small town. The reasons are obvious. In the small town one finds unity of purpose and neighborliness that are ever absent in large centers of population. Cross-purposes, class conflicts and cut-throat business tactics are foreign to the community of limited population.

Great cities, only, can afford to spend thousands advertising their advantages. They can buy magazine, newspaper and billboard advertising space, hire "directors of public relations" and finance vast civic improvements, industrial expansion programs and real estate developments. But these material manifestations do not make civic pride and community spirit.

The citizen of the small town takes the greatest pride in his community. The small town newspaper supports every community project and co-operates with every worthy local organization. The small town merchant glories in the fact that he builds his home town when he builds his business. And the small town manufacturer and factory worker know their products are bringing wealth to the community.

When you find civic pride and community spirit in the small town you know it is the real thing.

ENORMOUS DEFICIT IN ACCOUNTS INSULL INVESTMENTS BODY

FIRST OF GIGANTIC INSULL INTERESTS TO MAKE REPORT INTO COURT

CHICAGO, Sept. 13.—(AP)—A deficit of $226,510,796 in the accounts of Insull Utility Investments, Inc., was reported to the federal court today by auditors for the receivers.

The auditors said they found "inconsistency in the accounting records of the company" and suggested that consistent records through the years of the investment company's operations in Insull Utility securities would have shown losses throughout the period.

The report listed assets at only $27,473,364.

George A. Cooke and Calvin Fentress are the receivers of the once gigantic investment trust, first of the Insull houses to make its financial report to the United States ddistrict court since the Insull structure collapsed last June.

The auditors asserted that "income from cash dividends and interest has been insufficient to meet operating expenses and interest charges since 1929."

These operations at a loss covered the entire period of the company's organizations, the audit indicated. The investment company was formed Jan. 1, 1929 and Federal Judge Walter C. Lindley appointed the receivers April 15 of this year.

Had the company's accountants followed a consistent method of showing stock dividends and other profit and loss items involving dividends, sales of stock rights and other payments, the auditors said the balance sheet would have shown losses instead of profits from the beginning.

CHAMBER COMMERCE DIRECTORS OPPOSE NEW COTTON RATES

Members of the board of directors of the Corsicana Chamber of Commerce went on record Tuesday at a called meeting as being opposed to the port entry plan urged by the larger cotton factors by which the rates on uncompressed cotton in carload lots would be the same as the rate for compressed cotton from interior points.

A hearing is to be held before the railroad commissioner at Austin on Sept. 20, and cotton buyers and compress owners on the interior are contesting the proposal. The services of the chamber secretary were tendered the compress owners, and buyers.

A representative of the Corsicana Compress Company appeared before the directors and asked their assistance, stating that interior presses and buyers would be forced out of business if the larger factor was successful in his quest. He said that all but three railroads in Texas were opposed to the plan.

Corsicana Schools Fifty Years Ago Had Large Attendance

Fifty years ago yesterday, Sept. 12, 1882—the Corsicana public schools opened with such a large enrollment that extra teachers had to be employed.

The following item in "Dallas and State, Fifty Years Ago" in this morning's Dallas News will be read with interest here:

"The public schools opened yesterday at Corsicana with so large an attendance that extra teachers will have to be employed."

Nagging Pains are Warning Signals

TEMPORARY pain relief remedies may save you much suffering at the moment, but putting a mask over a warning signal does not clear up the condition it was telling you to avoid.

When periodic pains, due to a weak, run-down condition, distress you, treatment for the cause of the trouble should be started without delay. Take Cardui to build up against the nagging symptoms of ordinary womanly ailments. So many women praise CARDUI, it must be good to have the widespread use that it has today. Sold at drug stores. Chest of Miniature Tools Made by Hand Attract Attention

P. L. Fluker of Hester was exhibiting a chest of miniature tools, home supplies and other things here Tuesday morning. All the tools, which include carpenter's tools, oil field workers' tools, and household articles, were made by Mr. Fluker during his spare momnts. They are made in perfect proportions and each of them will operate just as the regular implements which they represent do. Hardly any of the articles are over an inch and a half in length and many are shorter.

The chest is one of the most complete things of its kind ever shown here.

Former Corsicanan Very Ill in Dallas

The many Corsicana friends of Lee Weems and his mother, former Corsicana residents, will regret to learn that Mrs. Weems is critically ill at her home, 317 East Jefferson street, Dallas, where they have been making their home for the past several years. Last reports from the bedside of Mrs. Weems was that her chances for ultimate recovery were very slim, which will be sad news indeed for her many Corsicana friends.

UNUSUAL DISPLAYS FALL MERCHANDISE IN BUYERS FESTIVAL

LOCAL MERCHANTS OFFERING BARGAINS IN NEWEST LINES OF GOODS

Unusual displays of fall merchandise greeted the first patrons of the Corsicana Fall Buyers' Festival, three-day trade event, when they arrived in the city Thursday. The campaign will continue through Saturday, with almost every merchant in the town cooperating in the staging of the festival.

Special rates were offered visitors on both steam and bus lines making it possible to reach Corsicana at unusually attractive bargain prices to do their fall shopping.

In almost every store window appeared attractive displays of seasonal goods, along with standard lines at special prices. There was also the added attraction of the special offer made by the individual merchant denoted by the special price card in blue and gold, calling attention to the "leader" offered by the tradesmen.

The merchandising program of the Corsicana merchants was extensively advertised in advance by a number of ads in the Corsicana Daily Sun and Semi-Weekly Morning Light, by huge streamers hung across the streets of the business section at strategic points and by several thousand extra copies of Tuesday's edition of the Semi-Weekly Light which were given house-to-house distribution in Ennis, Mexia, Fairfield, Teague, Streetman and intermediate points.

Merchants said Thursday that they anticipated a steady trade Thursday and Friday, with a big climax on Saturday.

Treaty

the signing took place, in contrast with the glittering halls where most smillar treaties have been signed in Europe in recent years, might have been a modest American flat.

Setting gor Signing.

Yellow linoleum covered the floor and some nondescript paintings hung upon the walls. On the windows were simple lace curtains.

The treaty was signed at a plain oak desk. Henry Pu-Yi wore a frock coat, striped trousers, a wing collar and natty tie. General Muto was resplendent in a uniform which glittered with decorations.

To forestall any possible attack by the Chinese, the Japanese general was heavily guarded as he rode to the palace and the palace itself resembled an armed fortress.

The Chinese population, however, showed no outward enthusiasm and went their way in silence. Some of them appeared disposed to observe instructions from Nanking that this week be observed as the week of China's humiliation. The Japanese population, on the other hand, showed much enthusiasm.

Japan Denies Any Treaty Violated

TOKYO, Sept. 15.—(AP)—The Japanese government officially denied today the signing of the treaty as Changchun recognizing the Pu-Yi regime in Manchukuo was "derogatory of any treaty to which Japan is a party."

The statement issued shortly after the treaty was signed, reviewed Japan's position in the history of the past year in Manchuria and emphasized that the result had been the establishment of progress there.

It recalled the Manchukuo governments' pledge to observe the principle of the open door and said what Japan desires is to eradicate all foreign policies there so the region may become a safe place for foreigners as well as natives to live.

Whole World Interested.

"It is safely to be expected," the statement said, "that the whole world will come to have an ever-increasing understanding and confidence in the sincere desire and earnest effort of Manchukuo to carry out its foreign and domestic policies and that the powers will not delay long in establishing diplomatic relations with it."

A special committee has been established, it said, to prepare for abolition of extra territoriality and for opening the interior to all foreigners alike, as well as for other treaty revisions, but it added that such revisions would be sought "through agreement with the powers concerned."

A display of Japan's rising sun flag and the five-hued banner of Manchukuo over all government buildings and a parade of 30,000 reservists from the Japanese patriotic youth's organization which ended in a chorus of "banzais" in front of the emperor's palace marked todays observance of the signing of the Japanese-Manchukuo treaty.

Real Mission Incomplete.

"Recognition of Manchukuo does not mean the completion of our tasks," said General Sadao Araki, minister of war. "On the contrary, our real mission has only begun."

The army prepared a report for the emperor on measures the high command is taking to fulfill its new responsibility for the defense of Manchukuo and the foreign office announced that a detailed military agreement supplementing the general terms of the protocol signed today was already under negotiation at Changchun.

Contrary to previous intimations, the foreign office neither ratified the other powers of the recognition nor communicated to them the text of the proocol. A foreign spokesman said the government had not decided whether to register the protocol at Geneva in accordance with Article XVIII of the league covenant but that the legal aspects were being studied and the treaty would be registered if the experts decided it was obligatory.

Chinese Government Opens Note Attack

NANKING, Sept. 15.—(AP)— The Chinese government opened a counter-attack on the signing of the treaty between Manchukuo and Japan today in the form of notes of protest to London, Paris, Washington, Rome and Geneva, charging Japan was violating China's territorial and administrative sovereignty by recognizing the new state.

The notes demanded immediate internatonal action.

A cablgram also was addressed to the League of Nations calling its attention to the Chinese claim that Japan's action is incompatible with the spirit of the League covenant and a direct violation of the resolutions of the League assembly. It urged the league to take immediate steps.

Identical notes to the signers of the nine-power treaty, including the United States, charged the Japanese action violated that treaty.

In a note to Japan, the Chinese government declared recognition of Manchukuoo was only to be interpreted as "an open violation of China's territorial and administrative integrity."

Serious Situation.

In identical notes to the other signatories of the nine-power pact the Chinese government called attention to the "serious situation" precipitated by Japan's recognition of "the so-called" Manchukuo, "an organization created, maintained and controlled by Japan in the three Eastern provinces of the Chinese republic."

It also referred to "Japan and her puppet organization, by which she is attempting to establish a virtual protectorate over Manchuria."

"By this daring act of imperialism," the note said, "Japan adds the most damaging link to the chain of international delinquencies perpetrated by her in the last 12 months, which consist not only of robbery of China's sovereign rights but in continuous violation of international treaties of the most important character, including the nine-power treaty concluded at Washington in 1922."

Forceful Usurpation.

Recalling the events since Japan began her military campaign in Manchuria on Sept. 18 or last year, the government said the extension of Japanese operations over territory inhabited by 30,000,000 Chinese citizens was accompanied by forceful usurpation of the Chinese citizens was accompanied by forceful usurpation of the Chinese government's administrative powers and the establishment of a "bogus administration."

It is undeniable, the note added, that the "bogus government of Manchukuo" is a "product and tool" of Japanese military aggression and the masses of people in Manchuria are under "constant oppression an dintimidation from the Japanese military."

Once the Japanese troops were withdrawn it said, the "so-called Manchukuo" would vanish completely.

Japanese Ask Delay Consideration Report

GENEVA, Switzerland, Sept. 15.—(AP)—The Japanese government asked the League of Nations today to delay consideration of the Lytton report on the situation in the Far East until six weeks after its publication, probably on Sept 25.

The delay, which probably will be granted, would give the Japanese time to study the document and to send a special representative to Geneva when the issue comes up for consideration by the League council.

Washington Takes No Notice of Action

WASHINGTON, Sept. 15.—(AP)—Japan's formal recognition of Manchukuo in ceremonies today at Changchunu went unnoticed so far as any special action on the part of the state department was concerned.

The United States government and the League of Nations are on record against the dismemberment of China. Until after the Lytton investigating commission of the League makes its report to Geneva on the Manchurian situation later this month, state department officials are of the opinion that no move will be made by any member of the League.

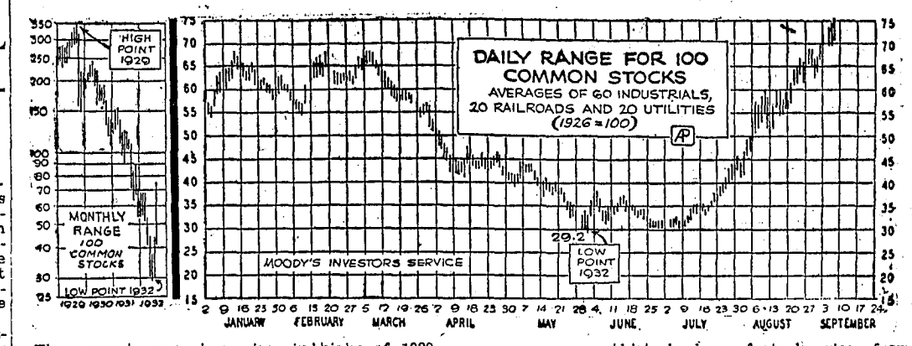

To the United States, Manchukuo recognized by Papan is no different from the unrecognized government of Henry Pu-Yi, and Secretary Stimson plans no alteration in his stand for the territorial integrity of the Chinese government.

With terrorism and brigandage spread throughout Manchuria and with train service ssupended at night in the Harbin-Changchun area, Henry Pu-Yi's government will be accorded recognition by Japan under unhappy conditions.

It is estimated by foreign military observers that Japan has about 70,000 troops in Manchuria and the disbanded Manchurian troops, irregulars and brigands who are opposing the Manchukuo regime are variously estimated from 70,000 to 80,000.

Early Fall Stock Market Style — The Upward Curve

The recent sweeping rise in stock market prices, heralded in many quarters as signalizing the turn of business "around the corner," has carried the average value of 100 common stocks to new tops for 1932. The market at the end of the second week in September was above the spring highs and within striking distance of the 1926 point from which began the long rise to the all-time highs of 1929.

Opinions as to the basic strength of the market vary widely. Some brokers feel the market merely is anticipating real business improvement, while others believe stocks have advanced out of proportion to business conditions. The recent advance has been longer and steeper than any rally since the decline started.

The chart at left shows the historic drop of stock prices from the peak in October, 1929, to the bottom in June, 1932, giving the range by months.

The chart at right shows the daily range from the first of this year through June bottom and on to the point reached the forepart of this month. The average hovers around 75, compared with the low of 29.2 in June. It is several points above the 1931 low.

Roosevelt

the New York governor received the nomination at Chicago.

Mr. Roosevelt, himself a farmer with farms in New York and Georgia, said yesterday that he had studied the various relief plans proposed in the past few years such as the McNary-Haugen bill, the Export Debenture proposal, the domestic allotment and others.

Within the past few months the leaders of the farm bureau, the Farmers Union, the Grange and other agricultural organidations of producers and heads of the outstanding co-operative marketing agencies have conferred with Mr. Roosevelt in Albany.

Henry Morgenthau, Jr., conservation commissioner in Mr. Roosevelt's state cabinet, on a business trip to the middlewest last May interviewed many of the publishers of farm periodicals. Prof. Raymond Moley of Columbia University assembled the views of economists and Joseph P. Kennedy, a New York and Boston banker, contacted financiers who are interested in the farm question.

Clyde M. Reed, former republican governor of Kansas, former U. S. Senator James A. Reed of Missouri and Bernard M. Paruch, New York financier, also conferred with Roosevelt on farm relief. Fred Freestone, master of the New Rork Grange, also is one of Mr. Roosevelt's advisers.

Data From Many Sources.

From all these sources, Mr. Roosevelt obtained data. With that information and his knowledge of farming he made the first draft of the Topeka speech a week ago. After that it was revised several times and as late as yesterday, an hour before its delivery, a change was made.

Mr. Roosevelt intends to deal further with the farm problem and the tariff in the last of his four mapor speeches on this western swing which will be delivered at Sioux City, Iowa, on Sept. 29.

Governor Roosevelt wound up yesterday with a series of conferences with party leaders from Missouri, Iowa, Oklahoma, Texas, Nebraska, and Kansas. There was an almost continuous parade of them through the late afternoon and evening in and out of Governor Woodring's home, where they met their candidates for President and vice president.

Last night the governor of New York and the speaker of the United States house of representatives parted company, Garner continuing his journey to St. Louis, and Roosevelt heading toward Denver where, after stops at Colby and Goodland, in Northwest Kansas, he was to arrive at 3 p. m., Central Standard time.

Hyde Ridicules Speech.

HAMMOND, Ind., Sept. 15.—(AP)—Secretary of Agriculture Arthur M. Hyde ridiculed the Topeka address of Franklin D. Roosevelt today, asserting in an address before the Hammond Chamber of Commerce that his "admiration of Al Smith rises higher with each new Roosevelt speech."

Hoover On Bonus

life of the nation. * * * Anything that stands in the way must be opposed."

Mr. Hoover said the money required was not available. He added:

"It cannot be raised by adding to the crushing burdens of taxes which drain every family budget in our country today and weigh heavily on business struggling in the midst of depression. It cannot be borrowed without impairment of the credit of the national government and thus destroy that confidence upon which our whole system depends.

Flat Currency.

"It is unthinkable that the government of the United States should resort to the printing press and the issuance of flat currency as provided in the bill which passed the house at the last session of congress under the leadership of the democratic vice-presidential candidate.

"Such an act of moral bankruptcy would depreciate and might ultimately destroy the value of every dollar in the United States. * * *

"Let us not forget that while we have lost much in this depression, we still have much more to lose and our whole future may be said to depend upon early recovery. * * * The proposal to levy over $2,000,000,000 and to pay it to a particular group constitutes a fatal threat to the entire pogram of recovery, to the success of which all must look for their well-being, security and happiness."

SNAKE AND SPIDER CONTEST MOVES ON IN ILLINOIS TOWN

ST. CHARLES, Ill., Sept. 15.—(AP)—Science is predicting victory for the common black spider in its long fight with the ten-inch garter snake around which it spun its web 24 days ago.

Suspended in the air, with its head enmeshed in a strong silken rope, the snake began its 25th day of struggle to disengage itself, but, in the opinion of Walter Necker of the Field Museum of Natural History, there is no chance to escape.

Under a magnifying glass the reptile was seen to be as securely bound as though it were held in chains of iron.

"I know of one case in which a rattlesnake lived for months without food or water but I wouldn't give this small fellow more than a month to live under the same conditions," Mr. Necker said after looking at the life and death struggle nature is staging in a city pump house.

But the snake was not without its partisans. Two fashionably dressed women among the many attracted to the scene of the fight screamed yesterday as they watched the spider toss additional silken loops around the head of its victim. At the same time an investigator for the Illinois Humane Society asked Mayor I. G. Lagum to end the struggle.

Mayor Lagum, who is betting on the spider, refused to interfere.

There appears to be but one chance, in the belief of the experts, that the mayor may lose, in which case the credit won't go to the snake but to another spider. They agree that the spider is a male belonging to that species which sometimes is killed by the female of its own kind.

Hymn Writer Dies in California Home

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 15.—(AP)—Author of more than 8,000 hymns, many of them popular in all countries, Charles H. Gabriel, 76, died here yesterday. He was the author of many famous revival songs of Billy Sunday, the evangelist. His songs include "Since Jesus Came Into My Heart," "That Will Be Glory for Me," "There is Glory in My Soul," and "Higher Ground."

His death was attributed largely to grief over the death of his wife a year ago.

Man Found Shot On Roof of Laundry

HOUSTON, Sept. 15.—(AP)— Ray McFarland, 25-year-old engineer for a laundry, was found today on the roof of the laundry plant with a bullet wound in his head.

Frank Toomoth, city ambulance attendant, quoted McFarland as saying he was "tired of living" and had shot himself.

Toomoth and Carl Ross, an ambulance driver, said they believed McFarland climbed to a water tower eight feet above the roof and fell to the roof when the shot was fired.

R. G. Lewis, one of the laundry owners, heard the thud of the fall and sent employes to investigate. They found McFarland wounded.

Infirmary attendants said he might recover.

GULF COAST OIL PRORATION ORDER IS NEW DEPARTURE

AUSTIN, Sept. 15.—(AP)—Action of the Texas railroad commission in ordering that no well in the gulf coast territory be allowed to produce more than 240 barrels per day was seen today as a possible move on the part of the commission to inaugurate a new policy in regulation of oil production.

Ernest O. Thompson, member of the commission, in discussing the order had ventured the opinion that the commission might adopt a new policy and might issue similar orders for wells in other fields.

Commissioner Thompson said the order was "in line with true conservation." He said it was the first time an order of this type had been issued by the regulatory body.

Thompson said that if an order limiting each well to 240 barrels was made effective in other fields, oil production would be reduced 110,000 barrels daily. A large number of wells in Texas daily are producing considerably in excess of this amount, commission officials said.

At a recent hearing of the commission on four Texas oil fields, Thompson said he had asked witnesses if reduction of the per well allowable in all fields to a maximum of 200 barrels per day would be in the interest of conservation. In each instance, Thompson said, the witness replied that it would.

Another order issued by the commission on the gulf coast territory provided for a reduction ten per cent in the production all wells located in pools in which the total output of the pool was above 3,000 barrels per day.

From the refrigerator inspection, the next morning job is usually the dishes. Many years ago I began begging my readers never, never to stand bent over a low sink. Have the sink raised so you stand erect in front of it, and if it is too late for that, put a wood block of some kind under your dish pan. And stand with your feet on a soft rug—this is advice I gave some years ago, but I find I must repeat it again. Modern kitchens with tile or linoleum floors, which are hard under the feet, are terribly tiring. Get yourself a thick, washable rug—not only that, but cut out a piece of felt and put under it. You'll be amazed at the difference in the way you feel after your kitchen work, if you do this.

Remember to keep your shoulders back! You'll get more arm exercise of you stretch to put away dishes on shelves and towels on racks.

Mrs. F. S.—I do not think that having the front of your head shaved would cause your hair to come in curly. Shaving does not change the natural tendency of the hair to curl, although some persons have had that experience, because previous to the shaving there had been an illness that caused a change in the whole system. Severe fever cases often affect the hair, just as your series of X-rays did on the back of your head, and all the hair drops out, with a new growth folowing that may be curly where the old hair had been straight. Occasionally it remains curly, but many times it loses the tendency after a time. You will have to curl the front of your hair now to keep all foit looking just right.

R. E. H.—Cherry—You will avoid much of the skin trouble if you keep to a simple diet over these hot months. Very sweet iced drinks and the rich mixtures like "sundaes" or rich pastries all overheat hte system and help to cause skin blemishes. Fresh vegetables and fruit should form most of your diet just now to clear your skin. Give a little extra cleansing to the parts of your skin where there are blackheads, and stop the irritating treatments over these places. Close the pores by douching the skin with very cold water. Whiteheads are cared for just as blackheads are, although they do take a little longer to get rid of. Diet and cleansing will finally eradicate the blemishes.

Tomorrow—Clearing Complexions.

New York Cotton Steady.

NEW YORK, Sept. 15.—(AP)—Cotton futures opened steady, unchanged to 5 higher on scattered Liverpool cables being offset by Southern hedge selling. Oct. 7.19, Dec. 7.35, Jan. 7.39, March 7.48, May 7.65, July 7.74.

There was some further local and commission house selling but initial offerings were absorbed by trade buying and covering. There was also some buying here through houses with Liverpool connections. Southern selling seemed rather less active than anticipated, and after some little irregularity, December advanced from 7.20 to 7.40, with the general list showing net gains of 6 to 7 points. A belief that rains in the eastern belt might check the movement was probably a contributing factor to the advance as offerings increased after publication of the weather map showing that the heavy precipitation was chiefly along the coast, and the market eased back within a point or two of yesterday's close by the end of the first half hour.

Some stop orders were uncovered as prices broke below yesterday's close and the market made new lows for the movement on all positions during the middle of the morning. December broke to 7.10, or about 30 points from the early high and 20 points below yesterday's closing quotations with the general list showing net losses of 16 to 20 points. Reports that the storm which had threatened to enter the eastern belt was apparently moving out to sea with prospects for clearing eastern belt weather, stimulated the selling. Offerings were absorbed by covering and trade buying on the break, however, and prices at midday were about at yesterday's closing quotations.

Dec. 7.25-30, Jan. 7.36-38; March 7.50, May 7.62-65; July 7.72-73; spot quiet, middling 7.25.

New Orleans Cotton Hesitant.

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 15.—(AP)—Cotton was hesitant at the opening today in spite of better Liverpool cables than due, but later showed improvement. First trades were unchanged to only four points up, due to an accumulation of overnight selling orders but when these offerings were absorbtd, the market rallied on short covering and October advanced to 7.23 and December to 7.38, or 12 to 13 points above yesterday's close.

Near the end of the first hour, futures were steady at the early highs.

October in the second hour dropped 6.95, or 28 points below the early highs.

Later in the morning the decline attracted good trade buying and short covering and October rallied to 7.15 and December to 7.29, up 20 points from the previous lows. The market then quieted as long liquidation appeared to have run its course.

Near mid-session the market was steady at the recovery.

Grain and Provisions

Grain Prices Higher.

CHICAGO, Sept. 15.—(AP)—Influenced by relative strength of wheat quotations at Liverpool, grain values here averaged higher today. Cables from Liverpool said millers were large buyers of canadian wheat and that almost nothing else was offered. Opening 3/8 to 5-8 up, Chicago wheat futures subsequently reacted somewhat. Corn started unchanged to 1-4 higher and held near the initial limits.

Wheat closed firm, 3-8 to 1 above yesterday's finish, corn 3-8 to 5-8 up, oats unchanged to 1-8 higher and provisions unchanged to 20 cents down.

COMMISSIONERS ASK FOUR TRUCK LINES PERMITS BE REFUSED

Resolutions directed to the railroad commission opposing the granting of permits to four concerns desiring to operate freight truck lines over Highway 75, discussion of the budget, authorization of the purchase of Limestone chat to improve the cut-off road from the Emhouse pavement to the Corsicana Country club entrance, instruction of plans and specifications to be drawn for the pavement of the Chatfield road in Corsicana from the Burlington and Rock Island Lines to Highway 75, and other matters occupied the attention of the Navarro county commissioners court Monday afternoon.

After considerable discussion, it was decided that the court would meet Friday to set the tax rate for the ensuing year and also to adopt the budget.

The quarterly report of the L. J. Martin, county treasurer, was accepted.

Commissioners Salaries

Salaries for the four county commissioners will in all probability be slashed automatically when the tax rolls are completed. The commissioners' salaries are determined by the tax rolls and at the present time is $187.50 per month, or $2,250 annually. In the event the tax roll is not under $20,750,000 and not over $25,000,000, the commissioners' monthly check will be $166.67 or $2,000 per year. It is expected the tax roll this year will approximate $21,000,000. If the rolls are less than $20,750,000 the commissioners pay will be $150, or $1,800 per year.

Representatives from the Texas Electric Railway company and the Southern Pacific Lines appeared before the court in the interest of the passage of a resolution directed to the railroad commission, asking that permits be denied to four concerns, named in the resolution, for through truck freight from Dallas and Fort Worth to Houston over Highway 75. It was stated these lines now operate via Hillsboro and Waco to Houston. The resolution was not directed to cotton trucks or local operators. All voted for the measure except Commissioner D. D. Sawyer of Dawson whose vote was "No."

Highway Approach.

A. F. Mitchell, county engineer, said he had figured the cost of building an approach to Highway 75 in Chambers creek bottom for Fortson Brothers and the cost will approximate $536. The court decided to investigate the proposal further. It was brought out that Fortson Brothers had donated 95 acres of land for highway right-of-way.

Mr. Mitchell was authorized to secure bids for the hauling 900 yards of Limestone chat for the public roads in precinct 1 and to be paid for out of funds of the old road district 1. The majority of the rock is to be used in improving the cut-off road recently constructed from the Corsicana-Emhouse pavement to the entrance of the Corsicana Country Club property. It is estimated the rock will cost approximately $945. Some of the rock is scheduled to be used at other places in the precinct.

Bond Taxes

A round-table discussion was held on the pending relief expected from legislation under way in the Texas legislature.

There will be $49,000 due Oct. 1, for interest and sinking fund on Consolidated Road District No. 1 bonds and there is only $27,000 in the fund. J. N. Edens, local banker, suggested that $22,000 be transferred from the Consolidated Road District No. 1 funds to that fund to care for this payment as there will be approximately $35,000 left in the road fund when all the laterals in the district have been completed. He pointed out that the $35,000 was a part of the interest the bonds and funds have accumulated and he believed this would be the correct proceedure to follow, rather than borrow the money in the event sufficient taxes are not collected by that time.

Limestone County Budget Calls For Drastic Reduction

MEXIA, Sept. 14.—(Spl.)—At a final hearing on the 1933 Limestone county budget at Groesbeck, the county commissioner's court approved a schedule of expenditures cutting expenses 40 per cent in two years. Nearly all salaries were cut again, and many other items of expense were left off.

The county agents were retained, as was the county health nurse. The commissioners deplored their inability under the law to cut the two court reporters in salary, considering their rates far out of line. An appeal will be made to the legislature for relief.

The general fund expense will be $43,000 for the year, if the schedule is followed.

members contending for assumption of right of way bonds and the house opposing the proposal.

Hubbard said the revised conference committee adopted the report without any argument.

He regarded it is likely the report would be adopted in each house shortly after being presented.

Home Loan Act.

A bill to bring relief to Texas home owners through giving them the benefits of the federal home loan act reached the governor's office with the senate concurring in a house amendment. The bill was sponsored by Senator George Puri of Dallas.

The oil theft bill submitted by Governor Sterling was given a favorable report by the senate committee on criminal jurisprudence. It was sponsored in the senate by Walter Woodward of Coleman, W. K. Hopkins of Gonzales, Tom Pollard of Tyler and Gralv Woodruff of Decatur.

The senate passed a bill to appropriate an additional $50,000 for expenses of the current session. A house bill by Representative C. E. Farmer of Fort Worth to enable cities to finance municipal gas systems was aoproved by the senate.

Senate action was withheld temporarily on the house resolution calling for adjournment of the session tomorrow noon.

By a vote of 16 to 9, the senate killed a bill by Senator George Puri of Dallas to provide for the payment of 3 per cent interest on deficiency warrants issued by the state.

Important Matters Facing Convention

PORTLAND, Ore., Sept. 15.—(AP)—A demand for immediate payment of the bonus—sponsored by its legislative committee—was to be acted on today by the American Legion which last night read President Hoover's warning such action would be "a fatal threat to the entire program of recovery."

Legionnaires also were to express their views on the subject of prohibition but apparently an attempt to have the organization censure President Hoover for use of troops in evicting the bonus expeditionary force from the nation's capital had failed, he resolutions committee shelved the "censure" resolution.

Selection of a national commander to succeed Henry L. Stevens, Jr., was the other major item before the annual convention here on its last crowded day.

Has Opposite Effect.

President Hoovers' statement yesterday against the bonus was said by proponents of the resolution to have had the opposite effect from that intended.

Raymond Fields, a candidate for national commander and a delegate from Oklahoma, predicted the vote on the bonus would be nine to one against the President's recommendation.

Representative Wright Patman of Texas, author of bonus legislation in congress, said: "The payment of the adjusted service certificates will not be a blow to the general welfare of the nation, but will be a great blessing to the plain people of this country. x x Such payment will only be a blow to the International bankers and will delay cancellation or revision of the war debts. Mr. Hoover is willing to give Europe several times the amount of money necessary to pay the adjusted service certificates."

Eleven Candidates.

There were eleven candidates for national commander, with the probability some of them would drop out.

Those running were: George W. Malone, Nevada Frank N. Belgrano, Jr., California; Louis A. Johnson, West Virginia; R. J. Kelly, Michigan; Raymond Fields, Oklahoma; Edward Hayes, Illinois; Earl Cliff, Minnesota; Frank Pinola, Pennsylvania; Sam Reynolds, Nebraska; J. R. Murphy, Iowa, and Richard Paul, Massachusetts.

The Legion yesterday reiterated its demand for a large army and navy, opposed recognition of Soviet Russia, denounced cancellation of European war debts or adherence to the World Court and opposed modification of neutrality laws to permit aliens to become citizens without takng an oath to bear arms in the nations' defense.

Would Save Millions.

PORTLAND, Ore., Sept. 15.—(AP)—Representative Wright Patman of Texas, crusader for the veterans bonus, today said immediate full payment of adjusted service certificates would save the government "tens of millions of dollars annually" in administrative expenses.

He said his statement, made as the American Legion prepared to act on demand for immediate payment, was based on information supplied by the veterans' administration.

The total "bill' 'is more than $2,000,000,000.

The approximate amount that would be paid veterans in each state, Patman, said, Included:

Arkansas, $25,369,313; Louisiana, $31,166,669; New Mexico, $6,258,625; Oklahoma $39,822,184; Texas, $95,641,820.

SECRETARY HURLEY DISHES OUT PRAISE PRESIDENT HOOVER

HURON, S. D., Sept. 15.—(AP)—Secretary Hurley today said President Hoover is "successfully piloting this nation through one of the greatest economic storms in history" and credited him with saving "millions of dollars" for American agriculture.

In an address prepared for delivery before the South Dakota state fair, the secretary of war declared that Governor Franklin D. Rooseveit, dmecratic presidential candidate, "has no plan to break the depression or to put men and women back to work.'

The war secretary lauded administration steps that he said had kept the United States "firm, solvent and confident of the future." He also told this northwest farming section the Democratic house passed "bills that would have more than doubled the cost of the federal government if they had not been stopped by the senate and the president."

Secretary Hurley dealt at some length with the agricultural marketing act, under which the farm board was set up, inland waterways development and the President's efforts to aid banks as they affect the farming sections.

"Five thousand country banks and forty insurance companies," he added, "have been shielded with the strength and power of the federal government during the past twelve months. The victory against these forces has been won."

In discussing exploitation and "fraud" by "institutions operating under the laws of the state of New York", Hurley said Governor Roosevelt had jurisdiction "over the offenses in his own state."

"The federal government," he continued, "has no jurisdiction over these malpractices which the governor describes."

Activity Apparent On Highway 22 East By State Department

The bridge department of the State highway department is reported to have checked the profile map of the survey of Highway 22 east, between Eureka and the Trinity River, toward Palestine, and has ordered borings at proposed bridge sites spanning Chambers creek and Trinity river, local county and Chamber of Commerce officials were advised Thursday.

Wortham Church Societies Meet On Monday Afternoon

WORTHAM, Sept. 15.—(Spl)—The Younger Generation was the national mission topic at the regular Monday meeting for the Presbyterian Womens' Auxiliary, held in the church parlors. Mrs. J. P. Stubbs was leader of the program, and presented the following members that discussed the outstanding topics of the subject: "Let Us Read," by Mrs. J. J. Stubbs. "Missionary Service in the Local Church," given by Mrs. J. H. Love was concluded by her with the eading, "A Service at Little Pine." "Who are the Misisonaries for 1932?" by Mrs. Guy Leverett, brought out interesting thoughts of the missionary personnel. Mrs. T. B. Poindexter featured the subject of "Missions in College," further emphasizing the topic with "Facts and Figures."

Preceding the regular program, Mrs. K. W. Sneed presided over the business session and gave the devotional for the afternoon. Mrs. Sneed used "Our Heavenly Father" as the devotional theme, confining her remarks to Matt. 6:24-34.

During the social hour, Meswames T. O. Sims and K. W. Sneed, as joint hostesses served refreshment plates. Baskets of garden flowers were used as decorative schme, playing their welcome part for the splendid attendance of membership.

Mrs. Hugh Magness and Mrs. R. H. Lee were joint hostesses at the home of the former Monday afternoon for the membership of the Methodist Protestant Auxiliary. Enjoying with these members, were the following invited guests: Mesdames W. B. Lee, John Graham, M. J. Henry, Carroll Weaver, and Raymond Wilson.

This being the regular social meeting, no business was conducted, and the president, Mrs. W. A. Posey, opened the meeting with a devotional, and presented the following trio of little girls, who delightfully entertained: Nathalee Henry with a reading, Gladys Anita Posey, piano solo, and the little hostess of the home, Willie Dale Magness, in a reading.

Outstanding feature of the afternoon was a contest, in which Mrs. Carroll Weaver was the winner, and that proved to be a shower of gifts for her from her friends, occasioned by the recent loss of Mrs. Weavers' home by fire. The large attendance of the afternoon gathering concluded with serving refreshments by the hostesses.

Chilean Revolt

Carlos G. Davila, who stepped out Tuesday, would resume the presidency.

General Arturo Moreno Benitez, chief of the air sedvice, who threatened to bomb the presidential palace if Davila did not resign, fled with his pilots when General Blanche, who had resigned for a few hours yesterday, went back into office and announced he would retain the presidency with the support of the army.

Troops were immediately sent to El Bosque airport, where General Moreno and his fliers were reported barricaded but they had flown away in the 70 airplanes stored there. They went to Colina and troops followed them but when the soldiers arrived the aviators were gone again.

On the strength of reports, they were bound for Ovalle. Authorities there destroyed all the gasoline on hand.

Ernesto Jarpa, the new premier, announced today that the Blanche government would order a presidential election on Oct. 30 and that meantime government expenditures would be cut to the bone.

Needy Relief

ndividual need in the meantime may be greater than before."

He asserted, however, that although greater difficulty may be encountered this year in obtaining private subscriptions, he was "confident that you will succeed."

"Our people," he said, "are the most generous of all peoples."

Praising the previous generous responses to local relief societies, the president outlined federal relief projects—the $300,000,000 fund, mammoth building programs, Red Cross distribution of government wheat and cotton and efforts to spread employment.

"With these back logs behind your efforts and those of local authorities," Mr. Hoover asserted, "we must make sure that no American will this winter go hungry or cold.

Private Support Necessary.

"These programs of the government are based upon the continuation of your services. They presuppose adequate neighborhood support to your efforts, which still comprise a large part of our reliance. They presuppose that the thousands of agencies which in normal times carry the load of distress shall function this winter to their utmost capacity. Let no man believe, because we have summoned the power of government to these ends, that it can replace your efforts."

Newton D. Baker, secretary of war under President Wilson, is chairman of the conference. Replying to Mr. Hoover, Baker said that federal and state relief provisions are "helpful" but "not enough."

"To all these public recognitions," he said, 'there must be added a devotion of every private resource both to extend the funds purely for relief and to preserve and intensify the surative ministrations of welfare and character building agencies which are more critically needed now than at any other time."

Permanent Work.

"The work we have in mind," he added, "is not only a mere interim provision to tide over this winter's crisis from the material point of view but also, in its larger aspects, it is to continue the work of character building and to conserve and strengthen the fortutude and courage and self-reliance of our people so that there will be no injury done to our national life by this tragic mergency."

Baker mentioned, among other things, the need of preserving the "wholesomeness and self-reliance" of the unemployed who became charges for the first time and the need of caring for and guiding young men and women who leave their homes in search of work.

After hearing Mr. Hoover's address, the delegates went to the Mayflower for a luncheon and to hear Atlee Powerene, chairman of the reconstruction corporation, outline the corporation's politics in making loans from the $300,000,000 relief fund, and Walter S. Gifford, president of the American Telephone and Telegraph company, speak on co-operation between states and communities in relief work.

Prominent Americans Attend.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 15.—(AP)—Several hundred prominent Americans gathered here today for the one day conference of the National Citizens' committee of the welfare and relief mobilization to make plans to help tide the hungry and unemployed over the cold winter months.

President Hoover was to review the situation in an address at the White House and to urge the conferees to lead a movement to have citizens realize their responsibilities in the work for human welfare.

Newton D. Baker, secretary of war in the Wilson cabinet, is chairman of the conference. Atlee Pomerene, former democratic senator from Ohio and now chairman of the reconstruction finance corporation, and Walter S. Gifford, president of the American Telephone and Telegraph company, were among the prominent speakers.

Baker said the aim of the conference was to stimulate communities to attack their welfare and relief problems and to help them in their drives to raise funds for social service.

the Eleventh Avenue Methodist church, and Rev. B. L. McCord, Methodist minister.

Surviving are his wife, eight sons, Chas. Megarity, Beaumont; John Megarity, Waco; Add Megarity, Corsicana; Jack Megarity, Corsicana; Roscoe Megarity, Houston; Jesse Megarity, Corsicana; Virgil Megarity, Shreveport, and Walter Megarity, Shreveport; a daughter, Mrs. J. W. Patterson, Normangee; a number of grandchildren and several great-grandchildren.

His sons will be active pallbearers and friends of the family will be honorary pallbearers.

The funeral will be directed by the Sutherand - McCammon Funera Home.

In the passing of W. C. Megarity Corsicana and Navarro county not only loses a pioneer citizen but one who has made the world better for having lived in it. He was a man of the highest personal honor and integrity and accorded to his neighbors this same degree of honor. He saw only the good in his fellowman and if he knew there was something in a man's life that was not to his credit he was not the man to parade that shorcoming and if ohers brought it forward he had a good word for the accused.

In truth Capt. Megarity was a good man and true and through all the long years of his residence in Corsicana and Navarro county he has spent his time doing good, rearing a large family to honorable manhood and womanhood and aiding in all that was good for his community and his fellowman. In thuth a good man has fallen with the passing away of W. C. Megarity and the tears of a host of friends and neighbors will mingle with those of his loved ones at his passing.

To Keep Wells Closed

OKLAHOMA CITY, Sept. 15.—(AP)—Calling more national guardsmen into the Oklahoma City oil field, Col. Cicero I. Murray, in charge of military proration enforcement, declared late today he would prevent any attempt to open wells of the H. F. Wilcox Oil and Gas Co., under a supreme court order lifting their shutdown.

Land Bills

decision of the state supreme court which held the state was entitled to one half the bonus and rentals, in addition to one sixteenth rolayty from oil and gas development of the land.

Representative Sarah Hughes, of Dallas, termed the bill a "constitutional steal." Argument was on her amendment to expressly reserve one-half of the bonus and rentals.

Claim Lobbyist Busy.

Farmer charged the lobbvists for big oil companies were working feverishly on the members to obtain passage of the bill and that the bill was framed to put something over on the state. He devoted a portion of his talk to lobbyists, charging that W. T. Waggoner of Fort Worth had spent $100,000 in the recent campaign to elect certain members to the legislature.

The charge that the bill was a "steal" was denied vigorously by Representative Coke Stevenson of Junction. Stevenson asserted the bill was predicated on the "fundamental principle of honesty and right," and that West Texas land owners were seeking no more than they believed they were entitled to receive.

Court Ruling.

Several years ago, Stevenson said, land owners believed the state meant what it said when the legislature passed a law reserving only a one-sixteenth royalty from oil production. A supreme court decision overthrew this belief and held the state should receive one-half the bonus and rentals. This, Stevenson said, cast a cloud over the titles of the land owners and their lessees that should be removed.

He declared it was not right for the supreme court to hold the state entitled to one-half the bonus and rentals after the legislature had reserved to the state only one-sixteenth royalty interest.

Representative Bob Long of Wichita Falls denounced the bill, claiming its sponsors were basing their plea for passage on sympathy for the "poor West Texas land owner," whereas, he alleged, it was advocated for the benefit of larger interests.

"They may be poor but they are able to lay down the cash to pay the expenses of a high powered lobby that is spending plenty of money," Long stated. He claimed the bill was introduced at this special session because "someone might have thought the lame ducks would not care how they voted."

Long said the emergency clause of the bill declared the state to be entitled to only a one-one hundred and twenty-eighth royalty interest under present laws. He declared the supreme court had held the state entitled to one-sixteenth and that the smaller royalty was inserted in the emergency clause as a "joker" on which to base the claim that this was the construction of the legislature concerning the amount of royalty now owned by the state.

Legion

riot that took place in the city of Washington on July 28."

It repeated in essential details the statements that have come from the administration recently on the bonus march and the eviction of the veterans by use of troops.

A part of the letter was devoted to the order that Secretary issued calling the army into action on the afternoon of July 28.

The statement concluded with the paragraph "All fatalities incident to the riot took place before the arrival of federal troops. After the arrival of the U. S. troops, a force of about 600 men, not one shot was fired and no person was seriously injured. Law and order were promptly restored."

The ayes and noes both were loud but Commander Stevens declared the vote of censure had been passed.

A motion by Walter Edwards, Muskoogee, Okla., condemning the National Broadcasting Company for taking Floyd Gibbons, newspaper and radio announcer, off the air on Legion broadcasts was tabled after another disturbance. A few boos came from the gallery.

Although the broadcasting companies denied the action, Gibbons told the convention yesterday he had been refused permission to broadcast proceedings.

Speeches on the immediate payment of the bonus were limited by a vote of the convention to five minutes. Commander Stevens said he felt sure the resolution would he adopted overwhelmingly but that both sides should be given a respectful hearing.

Reprecentative Wright Patman of Texas, author of soldier legislation and a delegate to the convention, was the first speaker.

Repeal Advocated.

AUDITORIUM, Portland, Ore., Sept. 15.—(AP)—Outright repeal of the prohibition laws was recommended in a resolution adopted by the American Legion convention here today.

The vote was 1144 to 133.

Body Found

body was found, and took a steamor bound for Sacramento.

The coroner said an inquest would be held tomorrow night.

The body was discovered floating in the slough by two Japanese fishermen only a few hours after the film executive's will was produced in Los Angeles by his secretary, Irene Harrison.

No mention was made in the will of Miss Millette, though his relatives said Bern had contributed to her support several years. The entire estate was bequathed to Miss Harlow who was named sole executrix.

Authorities said the will, dated July 29, 1932, a few weeks after Bern's marriage to the actress supplanted what they described as two "wills of a sort" found in the film producer's bank safety deposit box. The latter documents each provided an annuity of $2500 for Miss Millette.

Mrs. Friederike Marcus, Bern's sister, said in Los Angeles her brother and Miss Millette met in Toronto, Canada, when they were both on the stage. They became sweethearts, Mrs. Marcus said, and later lived together in New York.

Miss Millette, Mrs. Marcus said, became mentally deranged and was confined for a time in a sanitarium. Bern continued to provide for her. After she was released and he had gone into the motion picture field he still sent her monthly sums of approximately $350.

Last spring Miss Millette moved from New York to San Francisco and lived quietly at a hotel there.

In reconstructing the story of her death, authorities presume that upon learning the film executive had committed suicide, Miss Millette decided to follow him in death.
